A Remarkable Dream-It; Result,

A colored inmate of the Parkersburg, W. Va., poorhouse, about 21 years of age, has berayed symptoms of hydrophobia for several years. At the age of nine years he was bitten in the hand by a dog, which was afterward killed on suspicion that it was mad. In the course of time the colored min, who is also a cripple in both legs, became an ismate of the poorhouse. At times he seemed to be in sound health, and unimpaired mental faculties, perhaps for several days. Then suddenly he would feel an itching sensation in the palm of the right hand, which would rapidly ascend the right arm, affecting the mesial and cutaneous perves, until the whole of the right side would be affected. Usually he would inform his keepers, who would confide him in his cell, a strong room from which it was impossible for him to escape. He would soon begin to froth at the mouth, growl, whine, bark and snap at anythy within his reach, or rasionally tearing his own flesh with his teeth and nails. During these rabid spells his eges would turn in his head, he would display the ferosity of a wild beast upon the approach of any one, and would becom : francie at the sight of water .-These actions had been of regular occurrence until one moroing, a short time ago, aw-kening from a deep sleep of physical expansion, the aufortunate man eailed Mr. Joseph Cook, he superintendent to his cell, and told num that he had seen a man to a dream who informed him that if he would gather certain weed which grew on a certain part of the farm (describing a spot where he ead he and never been, and even the identical spot in which the weed grew) he would recover entire-Mr. Cook ridicaled the idea as the emanation of a diseased mind, caused by an effection of the nervous extent; but the colored man strenuously adnered to the belief that it would cure him. At length, to get rid of his importunities, he was taken in a wagon to a point near the apot indicated and lifted out. He crawled directly to the place, which was exact yes he described it. There he found a small clump of weeds, which he declares to be the weed which he saw in his dream. He pulled it up and masticated leaves and stalk, as he was taken to his room in the poorhouse none eight or ten lags have elapsed, and the sousme and rabil fits, which and been of simost daily cotarrence, have altogether ceased, and he declares himself entirely ecovered. His physicians say that there is no doubt that he was afflicted with hydrophobia, and that his cure is apparently genuine. They have tried in vain to accertain the name of the weed, but as there was only a solitary clump of it, and the negro ate the whole of that, the chances are that this cure for hydrophobic will still remain a mystery in materia medica stud these medical gentiemen have one basis of hope in the fact that a minute fragment of chick weed (Genera Sullaria) was found in the wagon just after the negro was listed out on his return.

SHARP EPHHETS,-There was no exciting episode in the Idipole House of Representatives on the afternoon of the lat inst.

Mr. Gross had called up his bill bearing the inoffensive title of "A bill for an act in relation to weights and measures."

Mr. Herrington, in debating the measure. charged that it was a sterl, and intimated pretty breadly that the secretay of State was in coliucion with some favored foundryman or masu facturer, and that Mr. Gross was representing

Mr. Gross said that the bill was drawn by Capt. J. M. Adair and the assistant sceretary of state, and it was a simple bill. Mr. Butterworth, of Winnebego, a wealthy manufacturer, said he would put up $25,000 at them here as attorney.

this moment to obtain the privileges conferred 4 50 bp this till on the storetary of State. Mr. Gross, in closing the decate, grow rather war to in repelling the instinuations of Mr. Herring, on, and the latter interrupting and repeating his incinuation. Mr. Gross, rolling up his sleeves, chen ed, 'I say you're a har, sir!' and after repeation the word har several times "

added, "ac infa your red beaded liar!"
Mr. Herrington retorted, "It is an act of e deue-lid a dors condector to meilesponce barefaced steal! I hold moself personally re spousible for the statement anywhere! Mr. Herrington moved to strike out the enacting cause of the bill, and the proposition prevailed by an overwhelming me; mity. During the discussion, the presects on the floor was of a reed of the manufacturer alleged to be principally interest in the bill. While the heated words were passing between Mers s. Herrington and Gross, the uning speaker, Mr. Matthews, pounded vigorously with his gavel in a vain effort to restore order.

FRIENDSHIP.-What is it? Do smiles, words of cheer and kind actions constitute it? Ara those who never uptrail, but meet all our deeds with words of praise, who flatter us on every possible occasion, to be considered true friends? Their attentions may be pleasant to our vanity and concest, and keep us in the bast bumor with corselves, and we may think their company very desirable, yet they will not do to put faith in, fer their amiable behavior is often the cloak for self interest. The person who will tell us our fau'ts-kindly, of course-who will try to teach us, who will show by ac's rather than words that he kindly regards u., is more worthy of trust than one who agrees with all our sentiments, wright or wrong, and who is equally ready to coincide with some one else, even if the subject should happen to be our shortcomings. Give me the friend who has the same love for me always, who is ready and repeat what he considers my virtues as an offse, to the failings they may rehearse, and who will hold fast to his faith in my truth and goodness in spice of defamation. Such friands may be so yee, but when fined are priceless treasures, - National Baptist.
